THE PAST-CUSTOMER GOLDMINE PLAYBOOK

You've served hundreds of happy customers who never left a review because nobody asked. Here's how to ask them, the right way, step by step.

THE UNTAPPED LIST

YOUR BEST REVIEWS ARE ALREADY IN YOUR JOB SOFTWARE.

Most contractors are sitting on years of happy customers who were never asked for a review. They liked the work. They'd say so. Nobody gave them a reason or a link.

If your job software already sends review requests, keep it. But it only asks the customers you serve from here on. It doesn't go back to the hundreds you've already served. That list is the gold mine.

STEP 1: PULL AND CLEAN THE LIST

- Export it from Jobber, Housecall Pro, ServiceTitan, FieldEdge, your invoices, or a spreadsheet.
- Remove duplicates.
- Remove anyone who asked not to be contacted.
- Remove anyone who's still unhappy and unresolved. Fix those first, separately.

STEP 2: GET YOUR DIRECT REVIEW LINK

Don't send people to "search for us on Google." Send a link that opens your review box in one tap.

1. Go to reviiewco.com/tools/google-review-link-generator (free, no signup, nothing stored).
2. Type your business name as it appears on Google and pick it from the list.
3. Open the link on your phone while signed in to Google. It should open your business with the review box ready.
4. Print the QR code too: invoices, receipts, the truck, a leave-behind card.

STEP 3: WRITE ONE SHORT, PERSONAL TEXT

Their first name, your business name and, if you have it, the job you did. One sentence of thanks, one link.

Example text (fill in the brackets):
Hi [first name], it's [your name] at [your business]. We [the job we did] a while back, and I hope it's still holding up. If you have a minute, would you share how it went on Google? [link] It helps a small local business more than you'd think. Thanks either way.

No reward, no request for five stars, no guilt. Just an honest question and an easy link.

STEP 4: SEND IN STEADY BATCHES

Don't blast 400 texts on a Saturday night. A small number each day looks natural, keeps you inside text-message limits, and gives you time to answer replies. Send during business hours.

STEP 5: FOLLOW UP ONCE OR TWICE, THEN STOP

People forget. A friendly reminder a couple of days later is fine. Two follow-ups at most, and stop the moment they've posted.

STEP 6: HONOR EVERY OPT-OUT RIGHT AWAY

Anyone who replies STOP never hears from you again.

> Know the rules: texting past customers comes with legal requirements. Make sure you have a legitimate basis for contacting them and handle opt-outs properly. If you're unsure, ask your attorney before you start.

STEP 7: REPLY TO EVERY REVIEW THAT COMES IN

Short, personal, in your own voice, within a few days. Never the same copy-and-paste line.

Example review (Linda): "New water heater went in fast and the crew was great with our dog. Hot showers again!"

Good reply: "Thanks, Linda. Glad the new water heater is keeping up with the whole family. Marcus said your dog supervised the entire install. Call us anytime."

Weak reply: "Thank you for your review! We appreciate your business!" It could be about anyone, so it says nothing.

THE RULES THAT KEEP YOUR PROFILE SAFE

- ✓ Ask every customer the same way, happy or not.
- ✓ Give unhappy customers an easy way to reach you directly, too.
- × Offer discounts, gifts or anything else in exchange for a review.

- × Only ask the customers you think are happy.
- × Ask them to mention a tech by name, or give your crew a review quota (Google banned both in April 2026).
